Paul,
Can you prepare a standard response to these inquiries from the various agencies?

Jake, please deny the request based on the fact that charges are pending. Paul can have a civil attorney get the language our office is using to point you in the right direction.

Thanks Jake! I hope you are doing well.

Gentlemen,

My police agency is currently fielding multiple media GRAMA requests, and I'm looking to coordinate our response with your office. I've read your Ryan's memo on media statements, and it seems to match what we're planning to do.

Before we move forward, I'd like to quickly connect with someone from your team. We don't want to take any action that could affect a prosecution. Could a representative from your office spare five minutes for a call tomorrow?

We're working on a timeline, and I'll wait to hear from you before responding.

Best,

All,

I agree with Ryan that you should be very careful when releasing information. When denying a request, referring to Rule 3.6 of the rules of professionalism is a great idea, in addition to the other grounds. With that said, striking a careful, middle ground is probably important because we want to avoid obviously appeals that we will lose.

Subject: RE: GRAMA Requests - CK and TJR

A couple of comments:

- As a general rule, I would deny all GRAMA requests regarding this case as a case still under investigation and pending prosecution. Further I would cite to rule 3.6 of the rules of professional responsibility in that any material our office releases has the potential to prejudice the potential jury pool.
- On records that could go either way, please err on the side of denial.
- I am especially concerned about the release of information from the jail phone calls. In my view, these statements are under investigation. Jail phone calls are often the source of confessions and the like. In my experience, as soon as the suspect learns his calls are being listened to (and especially public), he will stop talking on the phone about the case and we will be unable to gather valuable evidence. We ought to treat these as statements under investigation.
- 911 calls, I understand referring these to other agencies, but I would add that we would deny them as potential evidence in the case which is pending.

I know others on the team also have input, so please hold off until you hear from the prosecutors.

Ryan

Below you will find a list of records Utah County has received requests for as of today. Most are from local and national media outlets, some are from need to know podcasters and few are from Nosey Nellies.

The Civil Division would like to communicate that an across the board denial of all records related to the incident/investigation/suspect is not in Utah County's best interest from a GRAMA perspective. Each request should be reviewed and responded to individually to the best of our abilities while staying within the confines of GRAMA and to not set ourselves up for a wave of appeals where our responses may or may not be upheld. Any appeal puts us at risk of setting precedence that may go against our classification of certain records moving forward.

Your input is critical and greatly appreciated. Please respond to the group or to me individually with any concerns you may have with our proposed responses as noted below. My plan is to begin sending responses on Monday but if you need more time to review and address your concerns, let me know and I'll hold off. We have until the following week to provide initial responses to these 40+ requests.
